Contents

Introduction • Nellie Wong

1. Reading, writing — resistance!
The fight for working-class education at City College of San Francisco • Duciana Thomas
The unfinished battle for quality public schools • Yuisa Gimeno
“Reverse discrimination” cases further threaten school integration • Annaliza Torres
Are charter schools the answer to inequality in public education? • Lillian Thompson
Standing up for Ethnic Studies: Talks with Rodolfo Acuña and Roberto Rodríguez • Yolanda Alaniz

2. Crimes of punishment
Ferguson grand jury props up a rotten, racist system • National Comrades of Color Caucus
Who is Assata Shakur, and why is she on the FBI list of top terrorists? • Nellie Wong
Dissent and retribution: Justice denied for political prisoners • Mark Cook
Escalating police violence renews demand for elected civilian review boards • Emily Woo Yamasaki
Georgia prison strike: A multiracial revolt against slave-labor practices • Mark Cook
Four decades in prison: Interview with Black Panther leader Eddie Conway • Chris Smith

3. The border crossed us
What drives Latino children to El Norte? • Hugo Orellana
Border town blues: Life in Nogales and Juárez • Noel Perez
Obama’s cruel immigration hoax • Yolanda Alaniz
No welcome here: An immigrant’s saga • Hugo Orellana
Chaos ensues in film satire when Mexicans in California disappear • Yuisa Gimeno

4. Sisters doing it
From graffiti girl to organizer: My revolutionary education • Miriam Padilla
Clara Fraser: Mentor for revolutionary feminists of color • Norma Gallegos
Women of color lead fight for reproductive justice • Nancy Reiko Kato
“Comfort women” of WWII: From sex slaves to human rights warriors • Merle Woo
Hidden from history: Bennett College women and the Greensboro sit-ins • John Hatchett
Profile of Black women movers and shakers is revelatory but flawed • Merle Woo

5. Speaking from the heart
When things fall apart: The fate of displaced Africans • Sarah Scott
Luscious poems by Nellie Wong on love, family, revolution • Chris Faatz
Asian Pacific America: Tales from the barricades • Nancy Reiko Kato
Bless Me, Ultima: A Chicano boy’s profound coming of age • Yolanda Alaniz
Langston lives! The art of a Black, gay radical poet of the people • Nellie Wong
Heart of the Son: Exploration of the Philippine revolution for independence • Annaliza Torres

6. A global lens
Make justice prevail: One Guatemalan woman’s exile saga • Maya Gonzalez
Solidarity from a Palestinian leader tortured in a U.S. jail • Farouk Abdel-Muhti
The anti-Muhammad cartoons: Behind religious controversy lies class warfare • National Comrades of Color Caucus
Israeli-born scholar Raya Fidel discusses war hysteria and peace activism • Tamara Turner
Aboriginal freedom fighter speaks out against deaths in custody • Alison Thorne
Six Nations land claim in Ontario continues to draw widespread support • Ann Rogers
Chicanos and the military: Uncle Sam’s wars are not our wars! • Moisés Montoya

7. Shaking it up
Time for action, no time to lament • Karla Alegria
Lynne Stewart: Can’t jail her spirit • Ralph Poynter
Toxic legacy: Native Americans protest deadly fallout from uranium mining • Christina López
Environmental racism in urban communities of color • Emily Woo Yamasaki
Still working after 80: Social Security and me • Ann Rogers
What’s in a name? Dissecting racism and caste oppression • Christine Browning
Racial justice and workers’ rights • Christina López
State budget crises call for a united response by labor unions and communities • Nancy Reiko Kato

8. In their footsteps
Why I am running as a socialist feminist • Christina López
Norma Abdulah: Remarkable Harlem revolutionary • Jennifer Laverdure
Life and times of the multifaceted Ann Rogers • Christina López
Pepe Palacios: A proud gay resistance fighter speaks out • Stephen Durham
Women of the world — resist, protest, fight! • Nestora Salgado
Three decades of class struggle on campus • Merle Woo